The Poor Family of Abramovich - Director Ilya Farfel, leading role

Four generations of a Jewish family live under one roof in the center of Moscow. And although the Abramovichs live very close to the synagogue, all of them, with the exception of old Musya Lvovna, are very far from Jewish traditions, religion and self-consciousness. Borya sells (and eats) pork, unsuccessfully trying to succeed in business, his son David hides his origin, and his wife Alla does not even suspect how much she looks like a real Ashkenazi mother.
